Get the most from a load of wood chips

1 Spread two to four inches deep

Enough to block weeds and hold moisture without smothering roots.

2 Keep chips off trunks and stems

No mulch volcanoes. Leave bare space around bark to prevent rot and pests.

3 Lay cardboard under paths and weedy spots

Smothers existing weeds; both cardboard and chips break down into the soil.

4 Use coarse chips on paths, fine chips in beds

Chunky chips last longer underfoot; finer chips feed flower and veggie beds faster.

5 Add chips as browns in the compost pile

They balance wet green waste, keep the pile airy, and cut odor.

6 Ask a tree crew for a free chip drop

Crews often drop arborist chips for homeowners. Clear a spot for a full truckload.
